"President Brinton B. Davis

Lail's entertainment committee is working hard to complete all the details of the trip. "As Told in the Hills."

Was played here Thursday night to a packed house. This was Manager McGary's opening night and the people of Earlington gave him a full house. The play was interesting and full of gun play. The heavy villain died as the curtain fell on the last act as he should have done. Red Fox, the Indian hero, and Miss Pamela, the Indian heroine, after many difficulties, embraced violently, kissed and were happily married.

The pathetic Indian death scene, in which the full blood Indians took a leading part, was evidently misunderstood by some of the audience for comic opera, as a great deal of hilarity was in evidence, while the noble red man was expiring in great agony.

At love making, Little Red Fox was altogether too backward and had to be coaxed too much and did not warm up to his business until just before the curtain fell in the last act and then only when the sweet young princess took his unwilling arms, placed them around her swan like neck, and told him to go on.

Jim Dexter, the bad man from Bitter Creek, had a nervous habit of poking his gun against the ribs of every one he met and a frog in his throat. The gentleman, who took the part of the county constable, was suffering from an aggravated case of St. Vitus dance and could not stay still long enough to find the villain.

Zack, the negro man of all work, was there with the goods and was the life of the show.

Collectively the show was right and was vigorously applauded from the galleries.

Queer Happenings at Sea.

To suffer wreck in a staunch vessel, under a clear sky, in mid-ocean, and with not enough wind blowing to fill a sail, is a rare fate, but it nearly overtook the steamship Effective, on a recent voyage from Cuba to Philadelphia. The vessel was carrying 27,000 tons of iron ore, and, after passing the Bahamas, began running heavily in a sea running strongly from the eastward, and this was continued steadily for six days. There was no storm or any indications of one, but twice the Effective was thrown on her beam ends, and it was feared she would roll over. She did roll so much that when she arrived in port the starboard side was five feet below the port side, owing to the shifting of the iron ore. It is supposed that the ship got into the wake of a cyclone, which had swept up the coast a short time before. The case is considered the most singular on record.

PARENTS' DAY AT SCHOOL

Large Number of Parents Attend First Meeting of This Kind.

"Cooperation and Support" of Parents Urged in Several Talks.

Parents' Day at the Earlington Graded and High School on Friday attracted a large number of patrons of the school, principally ladies, to inspect the building and the work of the various grades and to become acquainted with the teachers and their methods. The time set was afternoon and the number of parents who came was most encouraging to the teachers and trustees, in whose names the invitations had been issued. Work of the children in the different grades was displayed in the various rooms and a general tour of inspection was made of all the rooms by the visitors. At the last all congregated in the high school room for the formal exercises of the occasion. Two songs were rendered by the eighth grade and high school singers, under Miss Wier's direction. Miss Marrell gave a humorous recitation, there was a prayer by Rev. Brandon, talk by Prof. Dudley, the trustees, Mr. Arnold, Dr. Sisk and Rev. Brandon. Great interest was expressed by those present, all of whom approved the movement for better school work and larger attendance. Particular stress was laid by the speakers upon "cooperation and support" on the part of the parents. The trustee emphasized the necessity for a movement to establish a chartered graded school and called attention to the fact that while the people of Earlington are now paying a school tax, it goes into the general funds of the county; that we could by vote change this so that we would pay a tax that would all be used for support of our own home school. Another public meeting will be soon arranged to be held at the schoolhouse, when all the parents will be expected.

Earlington vs Indiana.

The Earlington ball team crossed batts with the Nebraska Indians on the local diamond Saturday and an unusually hot game was played. The score stood 4 to 1 in favor of the Red Men. Quite a large crowd witnessed the game and several of them pronounced it one of the most interesting game played here in some time.

THERE IS A REASON

Why it pays to advertise in the SEMI-WEEKLY BEE:

It reaches a large number of wage earners who take no other paper.

It has an almost exclusive circulation in a community where $50,000.00 in money is paid out each month.

It is read by hundreds of people who buy what they want and who have money to pay for what they buy.

The only way to get your advertisement before the people of Earlington, Mortons Gap, St. Charles and immediate vicinity is through the medium of the Earlington Bee. A hint to the wise is sufficient.

Local Coal Company Sues I. C. R. R.

The River Rail Coal & Coke company, whose plant is situated at this place, have filed suit in the Union Circuit Court against the Illinois Central Railroad company for damages amounting to $1,839.66. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant has failed to supply them with the proper amount of coal cars, and by so doing has caused the said amount of damages. They claim that on account of not having the cars to supply their trade, that they have in a measure lost it, and that on said account that the miners they have employed have left them and that they are unable to give them regular employment, simply because they can not get the cars to ship their product. This case will come up at next court, and the attorneys for the plaintiff are Drury & Drury.—Union-town Telegram.

Long Fall

"My poor man," said the sympathetic house wife, "how did you get that black eye and sprained wrist?"

"Ah, lady, sighed the tall wayfarer, as he slipped his cup of black coffee, 'I was a pilot on a ship and as we left port dey dropped me.'"

"But, my poor man, dropping the pilot is common in marine circles."

"Yes, mum; but you see this was an airship."

Space will not permit our listing every article in our store on which we make a reduction. Our stock is so large and varied that it would be useless to try to do so. We quote only a few of the many rare bargains.

A word about our clothing. By chance we found a manufacturer overstocked and it was only by purchasing a great many of these suits that we were able to secure them at a discount. This is how we are able to start the season with such startling low prices.
